Gain Game: what we learn

- need to know the rules / objectives / identify “value”
- different styles and perceptions
- emotion is always present
- importance of trust: “like life……..” - do as you say
- balancing trust and risk: short term / long term gain
- clarification and verification helps - consistency
- need a decision-making structure
- time pressures cause difficulty – take break / PAUSE
- reputation easily lost
- desire for revenge…..Tit for Tat

Gain:Gain

- co-operative tends to produce best result
- aggressive tends to be ineffective
- focus on maximising gains not losses
- if you gain, not matter if other “side” gains also - enlightened self interest
- “do what need to satisfy the other at least cost to you”?

Nelson Mandela

- "I never sought to undermine Mr de Klerk, for the practical reason that the weaker he was, the weaker the negotiations process. To make peace with an enemy one must work with that enemy, and the enemy must become one's partner."

- Irreconcilable confrontation gave way to peaceful co-operation. Only through effective negotiation could both sides hope to meet their needs. Neither side could win without the other.

Principled v Positional Negotiators

- use good communication skills
- know that relationships vital
- separate people from the problem
- seek options for mutual gain
- focus on interests, future
- are open to new ideas
- make concessions to gain –rec/y
- look for creative outcome
- add value, saves time

- threatening
- aggressive
- emotional
- haggle
- focus on positions, blame
- conceal information
- concede little

Barriers to effective negotiation

- Adversarial, competitive culture
- Posturing / taking positions / exaggeration / ego
- Pressure from / identification with “client’s” / principal’s / AN Other’s position
- Fear, lack of trust / feelings of threat
- Personal / institutional animosity / baggage
- Different perceptions of strengths / risks
- Lack of verification / justification / authority
- Pressure of time

A Structure for Winning Conversations

- Preparing – planning in advance – what we are doing now!
- Rapport building– the importance of good relationships: separate people from the problem*: respect and rigour*
- Understanding - exploring what it's really all about: the underlying issues - what and why
- Developing then evaluating options – finding possible, creative ways forward
- Deciding – selecting a solution(s) which works – and will stick
- Implementing – making it work
- Evaluating - how did we do? what worked? what didn't?

Preparation?

- What are my objectives? / What do I need to achieve?
- What are my concerns?
- What might be their concerns?
- What do I need to say / do?
- What might they need to hear from me?
- Where might misunderstandings have arisen?
- What is the common ground?
- What don't I/they understand?
- What happens if we don't sort this?

Rapport?

- separate people from the problem
- respect and rigour
- location, location, time and timing
- focus on (common) interests; be interested….
- don’t judge behaviour; value the person – relationships vital
- detoxify the language – every word carefully chosen – reframe?

Getting below the surface

- - ‘What do you really think about…?’
  - ‘What is this really about?’
  - ‘What really worries you?’
  - ‘What have we not understood?’
  - ‘What else do we need to know?’
  - ‘What is in our common interests?’
  - ‘Where and why do we diverge?’
  - ‘How can we address this issue?’
  - ‘What happens if we can’t work together?’

© Core Solutions Group Limited 2015

- What is this really about?
- How much of this is about money?
- What is really motivating me?
- What do I need to have acknowledged about me and my role in the family/business?
- What have I done to contribute to this situation?
- What would I do differently if I could start again?
- What do I need to say to my brother/sister/colleagues/partners which will really help?
- What do I need to say I am sorry about?
- What would [mentors] say to me if they were standing in the corner watching me?
- What would they expect of me in this situation?
- What one thing can I do which will change things radically for the better?
- What can I give which will help to change the present situation?

© Core Solutions Group Limited 2015

- If I was watching myself from a detached perspective in this mediation, what would I hope to see and hear?

- If I leave this situation without a resolution, what is the one thing I might regret not saying?

- What price do I put on family/partnership/contractual reconciliation/resolution/continuation?

- If I leave this with a resolution, how will that feel? What will I do?

- What change might that bring to me - and to my siblings/partners/colleagues?

- If this is the last time I am to see my brother/sister/partners/colleagues, what would I like to say? What impression would I like to leave?

KPQ s (Advanced Performance Institute)

- Start with your strategic objective and design between one and three KPQs for each objective
- Spend some time and effort to agree the final list of KPQs (try to keep only the critical few)
- Engage people and subject matter experts in the creation of your KPQs
- If possible formulate your KPQ as an open question
- Focus your question on the now and the future, and not on the past
- Create a short, focused, clear and unambiguous question.
- Refine and improve your KPQs as you use them.

Have we covered...?

- Shift mindsets from win/lose to mutual gains / joint objectives / common interests / common “enemy” or cause
- Keep in mind the big picture - always – don’t sweat the small stuff
- Avoid bottom line thinking - yours, theirs or anyone else’s
- Take them to the precipice but don’t push or threaten….
- Surprise them
- Identify a unilateral concession – and wait for the reciprocal response - recognise different weighting and values – help them save face…
- Change the teams / the setting / the time - or back off
- Don’t put money at the front - take your time: expand the axes: non-monetary value?

Some useful ideas

- The meaning of any communication is the response it gets
- The identity of a person is different from the behaviour they demonstrate
- It is possible to find a positive intention behind all behaviour
- People make the best choices available to them at the time
- The person with the greatest flexibility of thinking and behaviour is likely to have the greatest influence

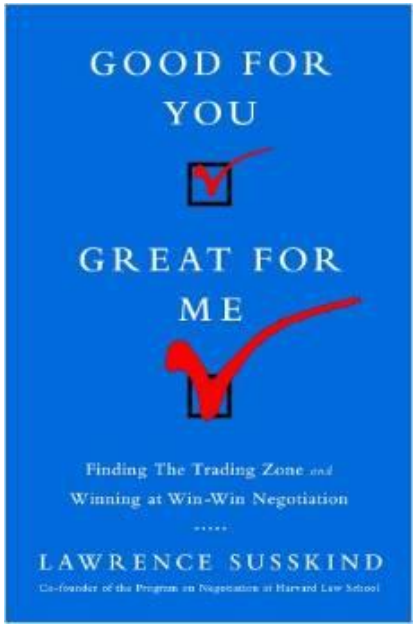
Some final thoughts….



© Core Solutions Group Limited 2015

- have fun…greatest opportunity of a lifetime? support each other!
- time, energy, health, keep fit, relax
- look the part
- no failure, only discovery…don't be afraid
- can't play safe all the time...
- nothing prescriptive, ebb and flow
- improvise…jazz! flexibility, spontaneity
- pace, pause, persist, park, pause (again)

© Core Solutions Group Limited 2015

- be interested – who are they?
  - what makes them tick?
  - be attentive to mood, posture, gesture, unspoken signals, look behind the masks
  - eat, sleep, breath from their perspective, walk with them, reframe their picture

- think partnership, long term, working with, build and compliment

© Core Solutions Group Limited 2015

- expect to be surprised!
- enjoy surprise, uncertainty, ambiguity, paradox, grey areas
- don’t fight fire with fire
- do unto others…..
- keep good records, revisit, refine, review
- be gracious and end well

Commitment to Respectful Dialogue and Reconciliation

Show respect and courtesy towards all those who are engaged in these discussions, whatever views they hold;

Acknowledge that there are many differing, deeply held and valid points of view;

Use language carefully and avoid personal or other remarks which might cause unnecessary offence;

Listen carefully to all points of view and seek fully to understand what concerns and motivates those with differing views from our own;

Ask questions for clarification when we may not understand what others are saying or proposing;

Express our own views clearly and honestly with transparency about our motives and our interests;

Respond to questions asked of us with clarity and openness and, whenever we can, with credible information;

Look for common ground and shared interests at all times.

Reflections from another time...

“The challenge is not merely the accumulation of knowledge; knowledge is not wisdom. Wisdom requires understanding and the key to understanding is communication.

Communication is the common denominator necessary to reason, to logic, to explanation, to interpretation. It behooves us all to learn to know and use it well. Our future depends on it.”
